“ I have always found the Diversity Travel team to offer an excellent level of service. They are extremely knowledgeable about the charity sector and our specific requirements and I feel that their commitment to working with charities both large and small is evident in their approach. I am always made to feel important to the team and I would not want to be without their help. I would wholeheartedly recommend Diversity Travel, and indeed have already done so to other charity organisations which I work closely with based on my experience of arranging travel to our various projects worldwide with the team. ” AH
